

URGENT BRIEFING on WEISS CANNABIS RANKING SYSTEM

Turns $30,000 into $1.4 million.
Spins off $20,000 in cash per month.
Start now with these 3 cannabis stocks ...

Announcer: A few days from now, Weiss Ratings will issue a landmark press release announcing an investment breakthrough that will take the cannabis industry by storm.

But in the urgent briefing that's about to begin just a few seconds from now, they will first reveal this breakthrough strictly to their most loyal readers and closest friends.

They will show you how they combine the power of the Weiss Ratings — lauded by the US Congress and in the Wall Street Journal — with the power of red-hot cannabis stocks, creating a once-in-a-generation investment opportunity.

They will show you how their system turns a moderate $30,000 investment into $1.4 million.

How it spins off $20,000 in cash per month.

And how you can get started right away with three cannabis stocks that they will name here today.

Plus, they will also reveal a major event that's likely to happen within the next 30 days that could make the cannabis boom five times MORE profitable for investors.

Ladies and gentlemen, Weiss Ratings founder Martin Weiss and Senior Analyst Sean Brodrick ...

Martin Weiss: Welcome to our urgent cannabis briefing!

Sean Brodrick: This is going to be exciting.

Martin: We have a major investment breakthrough and I won't beat around the bush. I will tell you what it is right off the bat.

For the first time ever, we are releasing our powerful cannabis stock rankings to a select group of investors. What's so exciting about this is that we apply the powerful computer model of the Weiss Ratings to the profit-making power of booming cannabis stocks.

Sean: Right. We crunch millions of data points to scientifically rank each cannabis stock from first to last. Then our strategy is to invest strictly in those at the top of our list.

When a cannabis stock ranking falls, I rotate it out of my model portfolio.

Martin: And when a cannabis stock ranking rises to the top ...

Sean: I rotate it in.

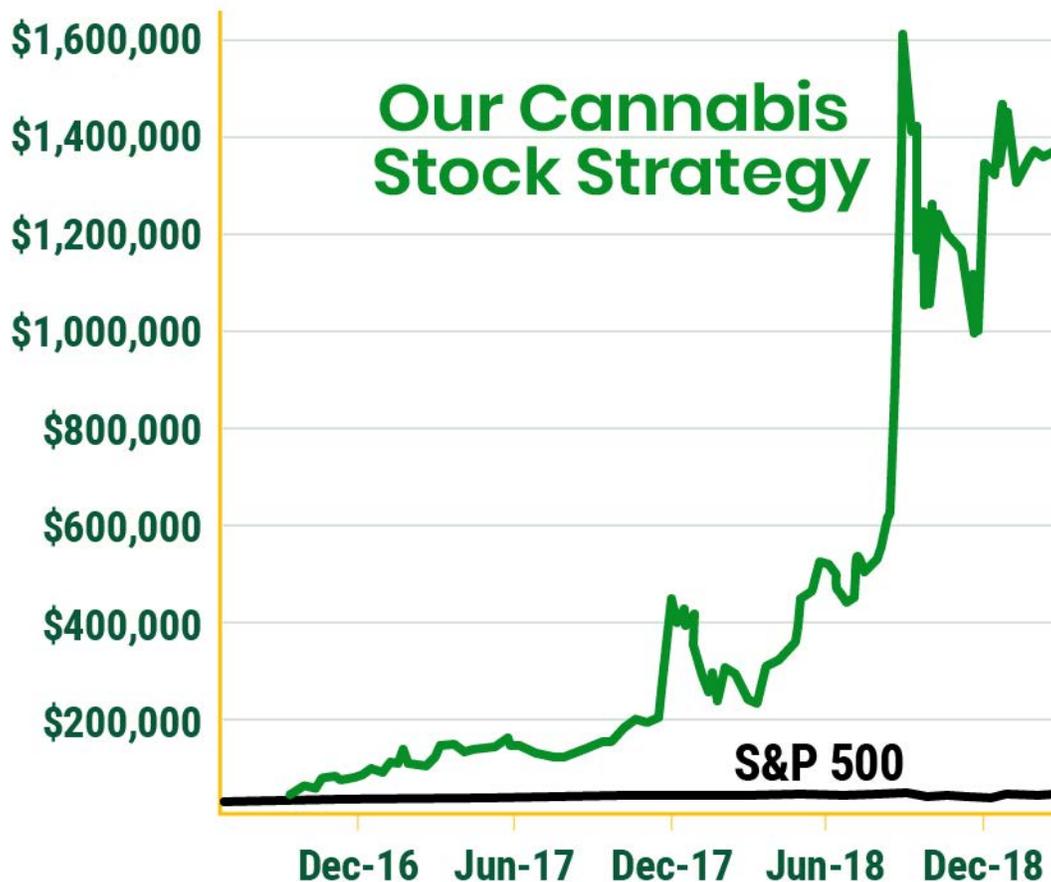

If you could have followed our cannabis stock ranking model since 2016, you could have turned ...

$10,000 into $458,000.

$30,000 into $1.4 million or ...

$100,000 into $4.6 million.

Martin: That's 86 times better than the strong gains investors enjoyed in the S&P 500 during the same time period. Can we put up a chart on that?

Sean: There it is. There's the performance of the S&P since 2016. And there's the performance of our cannabis stock strategy based on the rankings.

Martin: Can you give us some examples of stocks that the model picked?

Sean: I will in a moment. But first, I want to add this: In addition to the big portfolio growth, this strategy is a veritable CASH MACHINE.

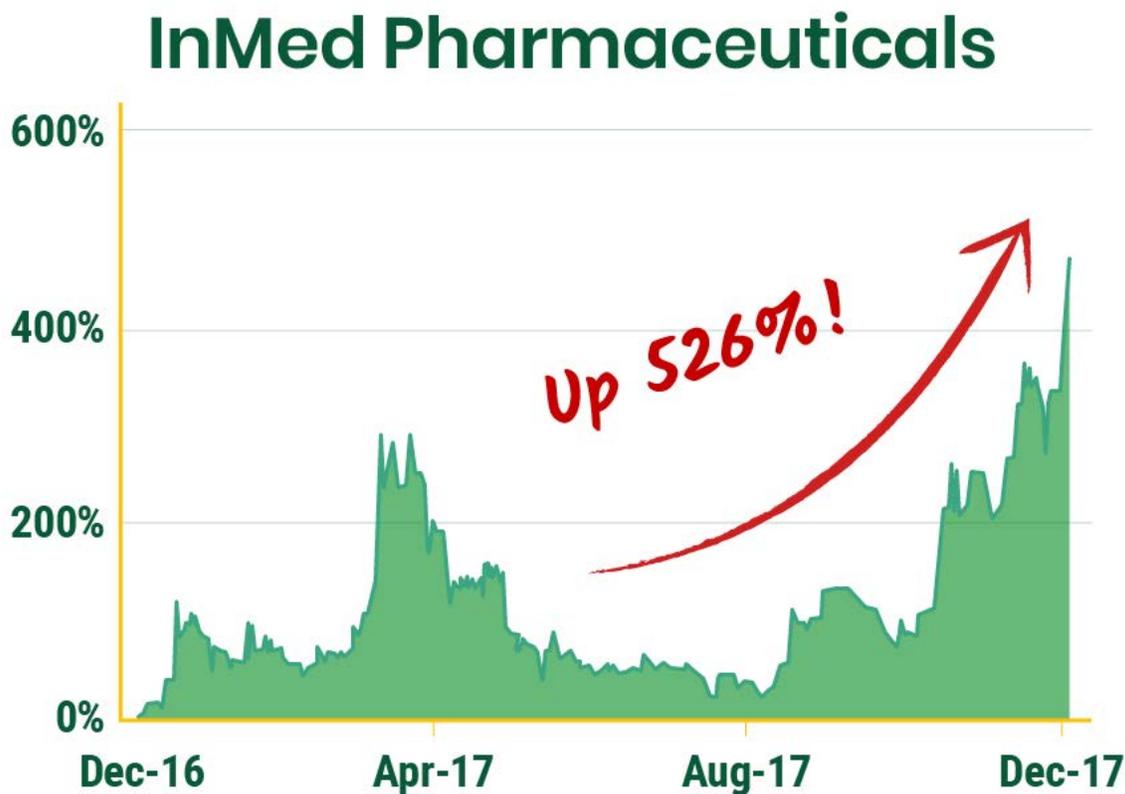

Martin: Give us the numbers on that too.

Sean: If you started following our strategy with $30,000 in 2016, you could have taken out an average of $20,000 in cash every month starting in January of 2018.

Martin: And I presume you could have used that $20,000 per month to spend on whatever you want — to take a luxury vacation, pay for college tuition ...

Sean: Buy a new car ... or even a second home. But you asked for examples, right? Here are some of the cannabis companies that our rankings flagged for immediate purchase ...

Inmed Pharmaceuticals. It went up by 526%.

Village Farms International rose 535%.

Village Farms International

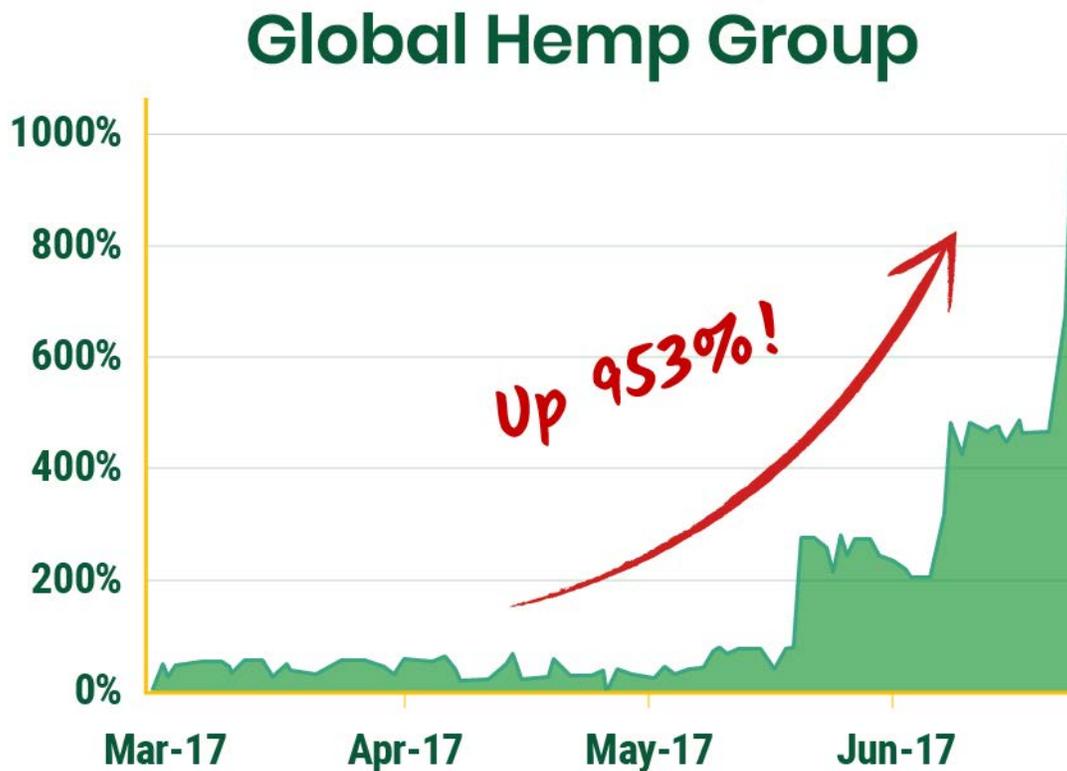

Players Network surged 786%.

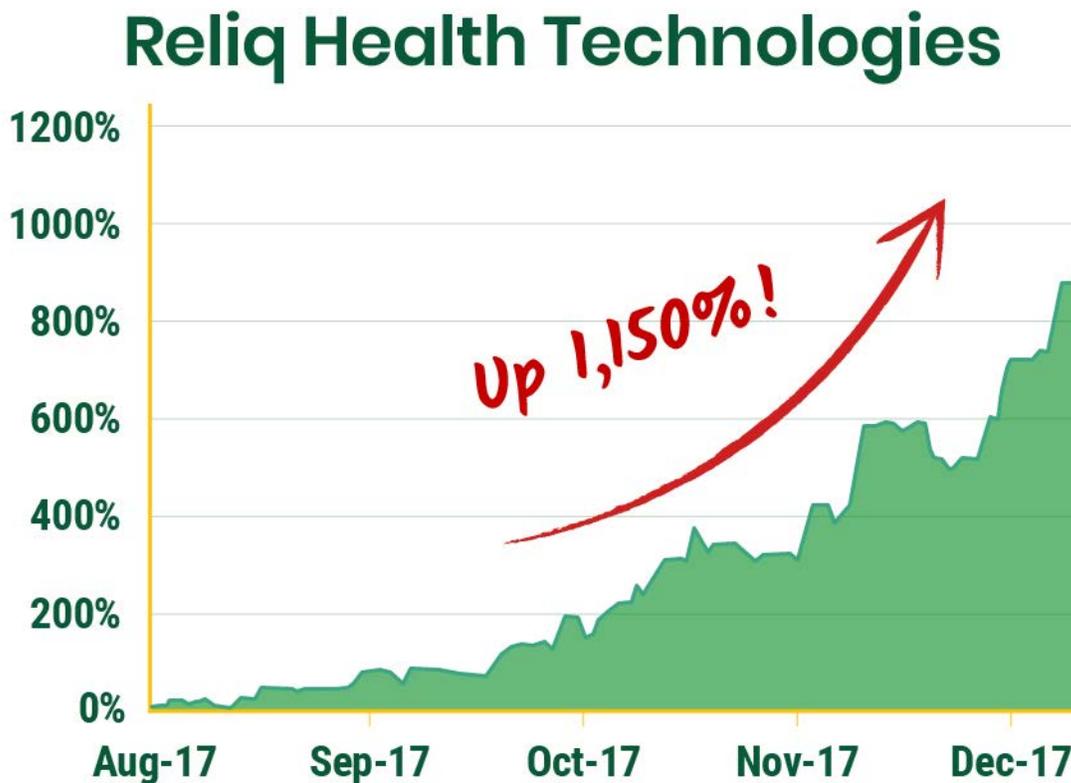

Player's Network

Global Hemp Group surged 953%.

Reliq Health Technologies jumped 1,150%.

Namaste Technologies soared 1,572%.

Namaste Technologies Inc

THC Therapeutics skyrocketed 3,237%. That's enough to transform $10,000 into $333,000.

THC Therapeutics

Martin: Were those the biggest winners?

Sean: No. Those were not the biggest winners.

Martin: That's a boom!

Sean: You bet it is! But the real boom in cannabis stocks has barely begun. In fact, today, I will reveal why it could soon be five times more profitable.

So, if you've been standing on the side lines of the cannabis boom. Or even if you've pocketed some nice gains, get ready. Because the next wave of life-altering profits lies just ahead.

Martin: And that's because of the accelerating movement toward legalization, right?

Sean: Yes. But even if no additional states legalized cannabis, their sales would still grow rapidly. According to ArcView Market Research and BDS Analytics, they're expected to increase by a whopping 38% this year and will more than double by 2022.

Martin: Even if no more additional states make it legal?

Sean: But the fact is, more states will make it legal. They're already doing it right now. And every time, it automatically creates millions of new customers for cannabis products. That will boost growth a lot more — as much as ten-fold.

Martin: And our top-ranked cannabis companies should do even better.

Sean: Yes! So, owning them gives you the potential for portfolio growth unlike anything we've seen in decades. But you have to act quickly because the legalization wave is sweeping the country right now.

Martin: Tell our viewers exactly how that's going to pan out.

Sean: Well, I can't tell you exactly. Nobody knows exactly what the future will bring. But if you want a preview of the kinds of gains we can expect as legalization spreads, just look back at the run-up to 2018, when nationwide legalization took effect in Canada!

Martin: I remember that. Canadian cannabis stocks —

Sean: which any American investor can easily own, by the way ...

Martin: Right! As soon as people realized it was coming, the stocks surged higher.

Sean: Yes!

* A leading cannabis grower, Canopy Growth, rose by 100%.

* Cronos Group, a medical cannabis producer, jumped 121%.

* Tilray, a cannabis research and tech company, soared 398%.

Martin: The pattern was the same right here in America when legalization ballot initiatives passed in eight states, right?

Sean: Yeah ...

* GW Pharmaceuticals shot up 228% ...

* KushCo Holdings jumped 252% ...

* Corbus Pharmaceuticals skyrocketed up by 668%.

And that was just the beginning, just the first wave of profits. The three stocks I'll name later in this session have even greater profit potential.

Martin: Please explain why. In other words, what will be driving this going forward?

Sean: I see three forces — three unstoppable forces — that are driving a new tidal wave of capital into this industry ...

Unstoppable force #1 is breakthrough medical treatments which are saving lives and disrupting big pharma.

The medical marijuana industry is going to be huge. $37 billion by 2023.

Martin: Just look at the growing number of diseases which can be treated. You have a fascinating story that really brings that home ...

Sean: Yes. The story of two-year-old Gwenevere. She had epilepsy. And she was suffering 40 to 50 seizures per day. Her doctors prescribed nine different medications. But none of them relieved her seizures or suffering ...

Martin: Until ...

Sean: Until one day, another doctor prescribed a medication created from cannabis.

Martin: And it worked?

Sean: Almost immediately. Her seizures stopped, and she's been seizure-free for over a year. All thanks to CBD, which is a naturally occurring compound found in cannabis.

Martin: That's not the substance that gets people high.

Sean: No, THC is what gets you high. CBD is another substance with a whole host of healing properties and no psychoactive effect. In fact, CBD is one of the most potent natural anti-inflammatories ever discovered. It's been shown to be safe and effective in over 80 independent clinical trials.

Martin: But it's not the only cannabis medicine.

Sean: No, there are others, and they're as close to miracle drugs today as penicillin or the polio vaccine were years ago.

Martin: And these are just the EARLY days of medical marijuana research: Scientists are also exploring cannabis-based therapies for Alzheimer's, for arthritis, for diabetes

Sean: ... for chronic pain, for heart disease, even for cancer.

Martin: Each one of these is a giant profit opportunity all by itself. No wonder cannabis biotech companies are making investors so much money!

Sean: Take GW Pharma, for example. In 2013, it was worth $110 million. Today, even though we're still at the very dawn of this revolution, GW Pharma is already worth $4.2 BILLION. Investors who bought this stock in 2013 would be looking at a profit of 1,679% today.

Martin: There are a lot of other examples like that. Can you give us some more of those? No, scratch that. Enough past examples. Let's talk about how to make money now.

Sean: OK. Here's a number for you: 76 million Americans. That's the number of Americans suffering from chronic pain. And what's Big Pharma's answer?

Martin: Opioids.

Sean: Right. Opioids! There are 250 million adults in America. But doctors wrote 191 million opioid prescriptions in 2017 alone. That's enough prescriptions to hand ONE bottle of opioid pills to four out of every five adults in America.

Martin: The result has been horrendous.

Sean: Worse than horrendous. But cannabis products can replace opioids. They're cheaper. And there's no addiction. That's just one way cannabis companies are poised to grab a big chunk of the 1-trillion-dollar global pharmaceutical industry. And it will drive their share much higher.

The second unstoppable force is full nationwide legalization. It's no longer a question of "IF." It's strictly a question of "HOW SOON."

Martin: What percentage of the population supports legalization of medical marijuana right now? Last I heard I think it was already a majority.

Sean: Just a majority, Martin? Are you kidding me? It's over 90 percent now. 92 percent to be exact.

Martin: Wow! It's hard to believe there's ANYTHING that's 92% of Americans can agree on.

Sean: Here's the proof.

Martin: Right in that chart.

Sean: This is why leading politicians, even conservatives, are shifting their views.

Martin: Right! Former Speaker of the House John Boehner has endorsed legalization. He says, "Cannabis is here to stay," that "the industry is only getting bigger," and that he's "all in."

GOP Senator Cory Gardner has co-sponsored the STATES Act, which will eliminate the conflict between state and federal law on marijuana. And it's bipartisan.

Even as we speak, the march to legalization is accelerating: Cannabis first became legal in two states in November of 2012. Now, less than seven years later, 33 states have legalized cannabis for medical use.

It's an unstoppable force, just like you said.

Sean: And investors should pay very close attention.

Martin: Because ...

Sean: Because each time another state makes it legal, millions of consumers turn into new customers, and cannabis stocks soar. But there's another reason politicians are mobilizing behind it.

Martin: Which is ...

Sean: Money and jobs!

Politicians can see how cannabis drives huge tax revenues into their coffers. After all, as the saying goes, "tax revenue is the most addictive drug of all."

Take Colorado, for example. Colorado has collected about $815 million in tax revenue from cannabis. About $21 million of that money went to law enforcement. Another $200 million went to public schools.

And then there's ... JOBS!

Martin: Aha! I can't think of one politician in America that doesn't reap political benefits from the promise of jobs for voters.

Sean: They know they can rely on the cannabis industry to DELIVER on that promise.

Nationwide, 64,000 cannabis jobs were added last year alone. That's a lot more than ALL the workers who currently toil in the entire coal mining industry coast to coast.

In fact, the growth rate in cannabis jobs is outpacing the growth in every other industry in the country. But it's just the beginning. Within a few years, an estimated one million people will be working in cannabis.

Martin: One million?

Sean: More people will be making cannabis products than making cars!

Martin: That's big.

Sean: But an even bigger boost will come from Wall Street, which leads me to ...

Unstoppable force #3: Wall Street is about to rush into cannabis, and this is your last chance to jump in ahead of them.

Martin: Why haven't they rushed in already?

Sean: Because red tape in Washington is holding back the flood of capital — and it's red tape that Congress is getting ready to cut.

Martin: Please explain.

Sean: Sure. The U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency —

Martin: The DEA —

Sean: Yeah, the DEA — they throw cannabis into the same legal bucket as dangerous drugs like heroin, LSD, or ecstasy.

Martin: But cannabis and heroin are totally different.

Sean: Of course it's different. Everyone agrees the law is outdated and needs to be wiped off the books.

Martin: And when that happens?

Sean: Then, a torrent of new money will gush into cannabis research.

It will help create new products. It will open up new markets. And it will drive up the share prices of companies leading the cannabis revolution.

Plus, there's another change coming from Washington, which will open the floodgates of capital. I'm talking from big banks and institutional investors.

Martin: That's important because the big institutions have been anxious to invest in this hot sector, but they've been holding back.

Sean: And the reason is that cannabis is still illegal on the federal level. So, if a bank or a big institutional investor sends money to a state where it's still illegal, they could be charged with "money laundering."

Martin: How do lawmakers fix that?

Sean: Well, to fix it, they don't even have to legalize marijuana. All they've got to do is cut one ribbon of red tape by passing the SAFE Banking Act.

This new legislation just made it out of committee, and the vote was nearly unanimous. When it passes the full House, it's gonna light a fuse under the cannabis industry. And that could happen at any time within the next 30 days or so.

Martin: How much money are these big institutions already investing in cannabis?

Sean: Right now, they're just dipping their toes in the water. Nearly all the spectacular gains we've seen in cannabis stocks so far have been made by individuals with just a trickle of money from institutions.

Martin: OK. But usually, if you look at the stock market as a whole, institutions account for something like 82% of every dollar invested. Now, nearly all of that money is still sitting on the side lines.

Sean: When Wall Street money pours in, you will see a five-fold explosion in buying power. And that's why I think cannabis stocks have the potential to be five times more profitable than they've been so far.

Martin: So, that's the third unstoppable force. Wall Street money pouring in, potentially creating five times more profits for investors. Now please tell our viewers the best way to pocket those profits.

Step 1 Ignore the Hype

Sean: Let me walk you through steps. First and foremost, ignore the hype and stick strictly to the facts.

Martin: That's easy. That's what we've been doing with our Weiss Ratings since I founded the company in 1971. That's what we do every day when we rate 57,000 stocks, ETFs and other investments.

Sean: Right. And now we are harnessing that power as the basis for our Cannabis Stock Ranking Model.

Martin: Which is a tool no other investor or analyst in the world has.

Sean: None whatsoever.

Step 2 Screen out the Garbage

Martin: Explain the second step.

Sean: The second step is to screen out the garbage, junk stocks that go nowhere or are way too risky.

And by the way, those can also include media darlings that may look good on paper but have virtually zero trading volume. So, in practice, it's nearly impossible for investors to buy at a decent price — let alone cash out.

Martin: Our Cannabis Stock Ranking Model is the only good way to identify the garbage.

Sean: Plus, I make sure that all the stocks we buy have average trading volume of at least 100,000 shares a day. That's the easiest way to avoid the illiquid shares.

Martin: I want to add that no investment is completely risk free. You've also got to be aware of the downside, which is a key factor in our rankings. Our top-ranked cannabis stocks are the ones that provide the best combination of both upside potential and reduced downside risk.

Step 3

Don't Invest Strictly by the Numbers

Sean: That's the second thing we do. THIRD, don't invest strictly by the numbers.

Martin: Which is why you often visit the companies. That gives you a chance to talk to the CEOs. You conduct a reality check on the ground.

Step 4

Take Profits

Sean: I love to do boots-on-the-ground research. And here's the fourth thing you need to do. Take profits!

Martin: Sounds like a no-brainer to me.

Sean: Well, it is! But some people fall in love with their stocks and never cash out, which is not a good idea. Tomorrow's big cannabis winners may not be the same as yesterday's.

So, no matter how much money your favorite cannabis stock may have made for you in the past, the time is going to come to take your profits and move on. Our Cannabis Stock Ranking Model tells you when and which ones to buy next.

Step 5 $30,000 into $1.4 Million

Fifth, continue following the strategy, and aim to turn each $30,000 invested into a $1.4 million nest-egg for you retirement.

Step 6 $20,000 in Spendable Cash per Month

Sixth, when you've built up your portfolio to a nice size, start taking out some cash.

Martin: For yourself and your family.

Sean: Right, to use as you see fit — to go on a luxury cruise, buy a new car, even buy a vacation home.

Martin: Cover college tuition for your kids or grandkids.

Sean: For sure. And to help make that possible, after the portfolio grows to a decent size, we take 10% of each profitable trade off the table.

Martin: And the historical data shows that ...

Sean: It shows that, if you start with $30,000, after just 24 months, you could start taking out nearly $20,000 in cash every month to spend as you wish.

My plan is to ride a big rally in cannabis stocks. That's what I've done in the past. And no guarantees, but I'm confident that what we can do again.

Martin: So, starting with $30,000 you could not only build the $1.4

million nest-egg you can ALSO enjoy all the good things that money can buy along the way.

Sean: Exactly.

Martin: Sean, you began recommending cannabis stocks to your subscribers long before it became the big rage that it is today. So, let me read some of their feedback, OK?

Sean: Go ahead.

Martin: Neal D. in California wrote

“My cannabis portfolio is up $109,000 in just four weeks.”

Ken of Indiana wrote:

“Love the gains seen in my portfolio. Keep them coming!”

And here’s a comment from John G. in South Carolina.

“I was making all the wrong picks before I subscribed.
Now with your guidance, I’m killing it.”

They seem to have made a lot of money following your cannabis recommendations. And going forward, I’m very confident you will do the same.

Sean: Thanks, Martin.

Martin: In fact, I’m so confident, I’m investing my own money. I have opened a brokerage account dedicated to cannabis stocks. I’ve funded it to follow every buy and sell recommendation. It’s a real, live portfolio.

Sean: And for those who would like to follow along with us, we’ve created a new service: Marijuana Millionaire Portfolio.

Click here to go for $20,000 spendable cash per month

Martin: If you're a member, you and I will both have a stake in making this work, with one critical difference: Before I buy or sell with my own money, I wait two full hours.

Sean: I will give you advance notice so you can get in (or out) before Martin does. Then, we post all of Martin's brokerage statements online for you to see.

Martin: Please explain to our viewers what benefits new members get when they join.

Sean: There are at least seven benefits that you get when you join.

The first benefit you get right off the bat is immediate access to our Cannabis Stock Ranking model that empowers you to turn $30,000 into $1.4 million.

Benefit #2 is the opportunity to take out an average of about $20,000 in cash every month.

Sean: Benefit #3 is core. You will get my instructions on the hottest cannabis stocks in your inbox Friday.

I make it easy. Not only what to buy, but also how to buy it, how much to pay for it — everything you need to know about the profit potential and any downside risk.

Martin: No jargon. No complicated trading. No options or futures.

Sean: Nope. Just plain simple stocks that anyone can buy.

Benefit #4, which you can download minutes from now, is the ten stocks at the very top of our rankings at this very moment.

Martin: Can you name at least one of the top ten for us now?

Sean: No. I'll actually name three.

One of the stocks on my list is CV Sciences. It's a liquid stock with trading volume of 1.5 million shares per day. And its cannabis-based products in over 3,300 stores across America.

Another is Green Thumb Industries, with average trading volume of over 350,000 shares per day. It's at the forefront of bringing legal marijuana to the United States. It has seven manufacturing facilities and licenses for 50 retail locations across seven U.S. markets.

Plus, I also like Planet 13 Holdings. This is a company set on being the "Wal-Mart of cannabis." Foot traffic is surging, and customers are already spending a lot of money.

But don't rush out to buy these stocks right away. Wait for my entire buy list and my specific instructions.

Martin: What else do members get when they join?

Sean: Within minutes after you join, I will send you a complete list of stocks NOT to buy

Martin: Yeah, that's important because some advisors are touting a whole bunch of other cannabis stocks, which is confusing to many investors.

Sean: Yeah. I hate seeing people lose money on pot stocks that I know are garbage and they could have easily avoided. So, to help protect you, I also give you my complete list of cannabis stocks I wouldn't touch with a ten-foot pole. There are a lot more than you think.

Martin: OK. That's benefit #5.

Sean: Sixth, when you join, you can immediately download my new report, "Cannabis Investing on Steroids." Even if you've never bought a share of cannabis stocks in your life, this will get you started easily, safely, and cheaply.

Here's benefit #7: I'll also send you flash alerts whenever a major new event is imminent.

Martin: What kind of new event?

Sean: For example, as legalization accelerates, big Wall Street firms will jump in. So, there's going to be a huge wave of mergers and acquisitions, buyouts and takeovers.

Martin: A bidding war for cannabis companies.

Sean: Yes. And when a bidding war breaks out, you really need to be on top of it. That's why I send out flash alerts telling you how to jump in ahead of time.

Plus, you get more. From time to time, I like to do fieldwork. I fly out to company headquarters. I talk to the CEOs. And I release exclusive videos of my site visits. That way, you can get a unique inside view of America's most innovative and exciting cannabis companies.

Martin: That's also a big benefit. Behind-the-scenes investment intelligence you won't get anywhere else.

Sean: Absolutely.

Martin: OK! You get the opportunity to turn $30,000 into $1.4 million. You get the chance to peel off an average of $20,000 in cash per month. You get the best cannabis stocks to buy now and every week. You get a list of the worst cannabis companies to avoid. You get virtual tours of the most innovative companies.

With all that, I'm quite certain that many investors would gladly pay the full price for the service, $5,000 per year. Explain to our viewers what you've decided to about that.

Sean: Since you're already a loyal reader, I don't want you to pay nearly that much. If you join me now as a Founding Member, I will give you an instant cash bonus of $2,500, to be applied toward your yearly membership in my Marijuana Millionaire Portfolio.

Plus, I will continue to give you the exact same $2,500 cash bonus every year that you renew in the future.

In other words, you get a lifetime 50% discount on your new membership.

Since you're already a valued subscriber, you're entitled to a 50% discount. But this offer ends very soon. Click here

Martin: I am so confident in the profit I'm putting my own money on the line. I'm investing my own funds alongside yours, always giving you time buy or sell before I do.

Sean: Plus, if my Marijuana Millionaire Portfolio doesn't give you recommendations that grow your money five-fold in your first year, we will pay for you to receive a second year FREE.

Look. The big Wall Street money is about to pour into this sector. So, if you don't join now, you could miss one of the greatest wealth-building opportunities of the 21st Century.

But I can't have thousands of investors piling into the stocks I recommend all at the same time. So, we must limit this program to 1,000 investors. As soon as we reach that mark, all enrolment will close.

No exceptions.

Martin: Plus, this offer ends soon.

Sean: Right, so there's a space limitation and a time limitation.

For more info or to join now, click on the button below this screen.

Call us at any time you have a question.

Then, just follow my recommendations for the next year. If you don't grow your portfolio five-fold, we will give you a second year free.

Martin: Thank you for all you've done for us, Sean.

Sean: Thank you, Martin. And my special thanks to all my readers who help make this possible.

* The $30,000 into $1.4 million and the ability to spin off $20,000 in spendable cash per month are based on historical data with the following assumptions: (1) Portfolio includes strictly cannabis-related stocks with a minimum average trading volume of 100,000 shares per day and meeting other fundamental requirements, (2) starting investment of $30,000 on January 4, 2016, (3) weekly rotation among stocks with the highest rankings as determined by the Cannabis Stock Ranking Model based on the Weiss Ratings, (4) moving 10% of each profitable trade to cash starting on January 1, 2018, (5) paying stock commissions and fees plus any applicable taxes from a separate account, (6) continuing the strategy until Friday, March 29, 2019.

Other variations of the model were also tested, varying the number of cannabis stocks in the portfolio and the frequency of each review. When the strategy was tested with fewer top-ranked cannabis stocks at one time, the results were significantly better. When it was tested rotating the portfolio daily instead of weekly, the results were vastly better. However, we did not select the model with the highest return. Rather, we chose the one that we felt is easiest for average investors to follow, while providing the best balance of profit potential and reduced risk.
